

Autism Friendly Music Event

A Free Autism Friendly Musical Concert

Date: Sunday, April 26, 2015

Time: 2:00 PM - 3:00 PM

Location: The Staller Center at Stony Brook University

Register online!

For more information contact: claudia.tracy@stonybrook.edu

2:00 PM - 2:10 PM : Introduction & Welcome (Room 0111)

2:10 PM-3:00 PM : Storytelling Concert (Room 0113)

2:10 PM-3:00 PM: Interactive Musical Room (Room 0111)

Storytelling Concert Section: This section of the event will be geared towards those who would like to listen, rather than interactively participate. There will be music by Beethoven, Janacek and other composers performed by Stony Brook University musicians and story telling about the pieces.

Interactive Musical Section: This section of the event will be geared towards those who would like to participate in musical interaction. The participants will join in conducting, participating with instruments and dancing.

Parents are required to attend this event with their children, this is not a drop off event.

Sponsored by:

The Stony Brook University Department of Music

The Stony Brook University Social Competence & Treatment Lab

The Stony Brook University Autism Awareness Club

